Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, December 8, 2000 – 10:00 a.m.

You see, my daughter, where we were wanting to arrive! This approach has not been easy between the two of you.

Your reactions are identical, it has taken us time to win you over. This situation is particular and would not currently be understood by all.

Humans have many misconceptions about the bonds that link Master and disciple and, even more so, about those that exist between this world and other planes. That some souls may be united and able to communicate is beyond comprehension for most of them.

Humanity is making progress as regards this idea. It will rediscover, in the future, truths that were naturally understood by civilizations that preceded yours and were a lot more advanced in esoteric knowledge. Certain ethnic groups currently venerate a teaching and a tradition that is perpetuated, in spite of attacks from an insidiously devastating civilization.

Truth will one day impose itself, and only the recalcitrant will remain on the fringes of this reality.

Continue to serve us as you do, with all your heart.

Babuji