Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, December 21, 2000 – 8:00 a.m.

Masters of all times have used parables to express themselves. You cannot force the deaf to hear, this is also why there are few chosen ones.

Not everyone is capable of really understanding what is behind seemingly insignificant words.

One still has to know how to hear and, as far as you all are concerned, to know how to read. Not only is openness of the heart necessary, but understanding a text is proportional to the evolution of the reader. We cannot reach levels impervious to knowledge in this incarnation. Even a superficial reading prepares one for future progress. Of the quantity of messages written, we hope that a large number attain their objective – 'make of it what you will'.

This century is the start of a new cycle, which will mark humanity. After many upheavals, darkness will give way to light for the largest number of people.

All of us here are working to set up structures which will be suitable for that distant future, but which is already taking shape in golden letters.

Call, in your hearts, this reign of true faith and love.

Babuji