Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, February 11, 2001 – 10:00 a.m.

It is in the nature of human beings to constantly criticize everything that they don't know, that they don't understand, and that doesn't resemble them. That is how it is, we will change nothing about it. Criticisms relating to you, and more particularly to your mediumship, are part of these behaviours. Go on your way without dwelling on that. We have already told you this – understand it if you can. Isn't it essential that this possibility exists and that we are able to make use of it? Negative criticisms are inevitable. Think of open minds that will benefit from all this teaching – isn't this the most important thing? We cannot force anyone to believe in this system. The same applies to all the secrets of life: all that is not tangible and measurable will provoke reactions of doubt among human beings.

Blessed are open minds that believe in the divine omnipotence and its manifestations. The unbelievers would remain petrified if they suddenly accessed true knowledge, not easily accessible even to the most enlightened ones. It is necessary to travel a long way before reality emerges in all its grandeur.

May faith and love guide you all on the way of discovery; these two powerful engines will open the secret doors for you, quite naturally.
