Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, February 21, 2001 – 10:00 a.m.

See God's hand in everything.

Regard yourself as serving permanently. Offer this availability as an act of love, intensely experienced and felt in every fibre of your being.

Cultivate this vibratory frequency that allows you to live between two worlds and receive us so easily.

Be attentive, my child – one page turns and, with the next, another history starts.

Your helpers understood that the new layout of certain texts brought them additional interest. The idea should be explored further. These writings are rich; they offer many possibilities at all levels, including that of presenting them from different angles. The interest they show in these messages enables them to discover all their subtlety.

The reactions these writings generate around you, offer you a glimpse of what they will produce when they are known. Each one's personality is decisive in this matter.

These messages exist, they will have their place in history and they will help many souls. Isn't that the main thing? So, continue on your way with the satisfaction of fulfilling what we expect from you. We know that this is enough to make you happy.
