Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, February 24, 2001 – 10:00 a.m.

Don't worry, you'll keep control of the situation. As we've already said, these messages represent a part of your life, and it's only natural that you should handle this matter as you see fit. You have chosen the pilot who will do his best in respecting your personalities to serve as intermediary between you and my son. We are delighted to see that he's beginning to gain a broader understanding of the richness these messages constitute in their entirety.

He can't imagine such a harvest. He will not only be astonished by this discovery, he will draw comfort from it.

Not just anyone can be a medium. A spiritual master, be he at a very high level, does not necessarily have this gift. That's just the way it is.

We use yours, my daughter, and you put your whole soul into this service.

That's why these messages are yours first and foremost, because in a certain manner, as they transit through your soul, they take on the delicate fragrance that emanates from it.

It will be up to you to decide when they will take flight and how to proceed, choosing the right elements for this purpose.
