My dear daughter,

Concerning these prophecies, you must write what we dictate without having any qualms.

You cannot check the soundness of what we are telling you. Some of our comments confirm assertions you have read from other sources, which themselves include some of ours, the most inspired ones being written by mediums having access to well-informed sources.

Great upheavals have occurred time and again on this planet. They have led to the evolution of life in all its forms. Terrifying species populated it, the likes of which fictional screenwriters cannot imagine. The humanoid kingdom is relatively recent; it was not about spontaneous generation, but one induced experimentally by superior beings, and which has evolved over time. Present-day researchers, their eyes riveted on their test tubes, would be astounded to discover the true reality of humankind. There is no question here of a superior race, as they believe. This sub-race tries to work its way up to the superior level, with God's help. All hopes are allowed; there is a lot to do, missioned beings of all kinds are working on it. Eden is not for tomorrow, but an embryo of higher consciousness is germinating and growing in this world, to reach a possible full blossoming in a very distant future.
