Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, March 10, 2001 – 8:00 a.m.

To love is your vocation, do not seek elsewhere. Giving that which the world lacks most should satisfy you. Grand gestures made in full view of all are not for you. You have your place, an important one, which doesn't require what you are lacking, that is to say the possibility of acting physically, humanly, on the ground. Being of service means doing what one came for, whatever the chosen direction. Rejoice, my daughter, you are where you belong. Your life has reached its full blossoming. Continue to give thanks as you do constantly, addressing yourself to the Guru of Gurus. He does not weary of hearing you.

All the love he receives from beings populating this Earth, who turn to him, imploring him and offering their service, counterbalances the darkness of the world.

This equilibrium is important. It helps the world in its evolution. Love attracts love, may it grow always and transform humanity. This Mission is grandiose. You must all work for it. The subject isn't taboo, as some people, even within our own Mission, believe. Human beings don't advance alone, they carry their fellow creatures along with them.

Make sure that this curve continues to evolve in the right direction and stretches into infinity.
