Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, April 5, 2001 – 8:00 a.m.

Life on Earth is a passage. The vagaries of the journey should not affect you all.

Rise up, as far as you can, towards other spheres. Clear your minds of the heaviness of this world, come and breathe the pure air of the summits. Your hearts need dreams to subsist, surges of love, poetry and beauty.

Go ever deeper into yourselves, towards this immutable which inhabits you. Be happy to have keys that open to you the doors of this sacred refuge.

You've all realized where the important thing is and have put aside enough time to foster this journey. Every day, you all progress on the path. Sometimes sweet scents come to you and encourage you, thus showing you that the path you are taking is the right one and that it leads to the goal.

Time, in this area also, does its work; it is creative. It's not easy for you to measure your progress, but it is real and valuable.

Your lives, on this point, can only be satisfactory to you. When you all take stock of them with the appropriate criteria, you will be amazed to assess the results of your work, your perseverance in seeking the Divine by giving it the place it deserves in your lives.
