Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, April 8, 2001 – 9:30 p.m.

My dear son, you still have many good years ahead of you, to establish the foundations of the Mission. It is advancing in spite of everything. It has been put into orbit and will, whatever the cost, follow its trajectory.

Stay joyful, whatever may happen. Human beings inevitably create problems.

Keep your eyes focused on the summits, rather than lowering them towards the miasmas of the valley.

Advance courageously, as you have always done. We are very satisfied and support you in everything.

That is what we wanted to tell you tonight, my dear son, with all our blessings.

Babuji
