Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, November 13, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

Yes, my daughter, you know it. Sometimes life leads one to take big and surprising turns that are unexpected; these are the uncertainties of life. Later you come to realise their positive aspects, although they caused some inconvenience at the time.

The ability to quickly adapt to circumstances is a quality that you must all develop; it will be useful to you throughout your existence.

Being able to face up to destiny is a great strength. History recounts the lives of many persons who have, in certain situations, shown courage and an uncommon abnegation. Be one of these heroes who are capable of taking on the strokes of fate.

Faith is your only and true shield; you must know how to use it in all circumstances, so you will not be taken unawares. Our ways are not yours; the choices we make for all of you are always the best for your fulfilment.

Give thanks, in good as well as in bad moments.

Don't let all these remarks worry you too much; live from day to day and all will be well.

Be blessed.
