Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, November 22, 1999 – 8:00 a.m.

My dear daughter, no matter the investment, you should obtain some improvement with this treatment. Everything possible must be done to make your life more bearable.

This man, as you have seen, will one day join spirituality, truly. He will change completely and focus all his efforts on this spiritual quest that attracts him, but he gives priority to his work as a doctor, for the moment. He too, you will help generously; isn't the main thing to see a soul finding its true path!

As demanding as one's profession may be, one still has time for eating, entertainment and many other things. Until the inner call is the strongest, people find excuses not to respond to the aspirations of their soul. A day will come when the call will be irresistible, then he will not be able to do anything but submit and give priority to the approach that will lead him towards what is essential.

Circumstances are different for each person. The ways of God are quite varied. He awaits a favourable moment to come and seize the jewel, and illuminate it with His sublime fires.
