Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, November 26, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

Your reunion on Earth was desired, and planned for a long time. It was a meeting of souls, a beautiful love story, discreet, unspoken, but of great strength. Few human beings are fortunate enough to experience this. It's the fruit of previous incarnations that made it possible for you to find yourselves in this one.

You are soul-mates for eternity. In the joy of this day, we wanted to confirm all this to you. You knew it already, but you also know that we are fond of repetition. It is never superfluous. Isn't your life a long series of acts repeated time and time again?

Even if you all sometimes find this process tiresome, you are part of the movement and you cannot escape it. You are conditioned to live this way. Even if your life sometimes seems monotonous to you all, there is something reassuring in this repetitive movement.

Cut off all your habits abruptly, and you will be disoriented. You can see clearly that everything has its raison d'être and that there is no such thing as chance. Be always grateful for the fate reserved for you; whatever it may be, it is planned for your good.

Babuji