Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, March 28, 2000 – 8:00 a.m.

Calm your mind; clear it of its thoughts so that mine can be expressed. We are going to be living in close collaboration. There is no 'dominator' and 'dominated'. There is a kind of molecular fusion taking place at the moment, accepted and programmed with a very precise purpose.

It is necessary to be well balanced in order to accept as real what does not appear to be so. Appearances do not matter; from now on you are managing the situation.

You have trust in me and this aspect is decisive, you will not regret it. You should not expect spectacular effects; the divine laws manifest themselves discreetly – this is to be kept in mind. We know that you accept these conditions. Your desire is to serve and not to put yourself forward to gain popularity. This kind of egotistic reaction would do disservice to our action. Advance with confidence and love; this lighted torch is your greatest asset.
