Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, February 14, 2001 – 8:00 a.m.

Why wouldn't you communicate with my son? Is this so difficult to imagine for somebody like you? You will always amaze us. If you, as a medium, wonder about this possibility, how would the others, who are not mediums, react?

Telepathy is currently practised by certain ethnic and religious groups. In highly evolved ancient civilizations, it was a common means of communication. Where is the progress of current civilization, if such possibilities cannot manifest themselves? They are to be developed and remain one of the human characteristics, which, in the current educational process, is not only occulted, but also treated with derision by a majority of individuals.

The human brain has enormous untapped potential. Intellectualism takes precedence over everything; intuition and true self-knowledge being relegated to the shelf of quirks.

Certain beings have surprising gifts, which they must often hide from their circle, for fear of being misunderstood. My dear daughter, you have important channelling gifts, and even if your life has not fostered their true expression more openly, we ask you to not fear human reactions on this issue.

There will always be short-sighted people narrow-minded on many issues related to this particular field and who will not understand. That does not matter, go on your way and do what you must. We chose you and trust you, so believe in our appreciation despite your persistent self-doubt.
