Thursday, January 27, 2000 - 10:00 AM

My son will appreciate the messages that he is going to receive.

"Now that you are available, we can make this kind of exchange more frequent. It could be possible for him, for example, to ask questions on sensible subjects, and we would give him answers or confirmations.

"But we mustn't rush things. You must imperatively take a rest... We will come back to that.

"Be in peace, you will not be asked to do anything beyond your capabilities."

Babuji