My son is happy. These messages restore him to courage. A spiritual Master of his level is alone. He is different from his human brothers and sisters. His spiritual condition is such that it places him above his flesh-and-blood fellow creatures while being separated from the brighter world which he belongs to. He fulfils his mission. He chose his destiny in this terrestrial incarnation, and he achieves it well.

"He aspires to rejoin us, to come back to his real homeland, close to those he loves and who in return do love him. Sincere outward signs of love from some of our brothers are heart warming for him. He specially appreciates these encouraging messages that come from us to him through this channel.

"We form a family of souls which, thanks to this relay, can send luminous signals reinforcing him in contacts that he already has with us in another manner. You know it; you who like to refer to different sources and thus have confirmations. Try to regenerate and come back to your better shape for this work that we expect from you."
