The veil rises to let you catch a glimpse of reality. Don't let your heart get into a panic; motivation comes to the candidate when he is in front of the obstacle to overcome. We are with you, attentive to your steps; there is nothing to fear. The force that attracts you is very powerful; you cannot resist it. That is how it goes when the moving forward must be made at another pace. Let yourself be carried along, look ahead and not behind you. You will not regret having taken the plunge. You have fully put your trust in us; that is where you could best put it.

"When you reach a given level, it is wise to take stock and to realize that the choice was sound as regards the most significant step a human being can take, i.e., the spiritual way into which he has gone.

"You have good Masters, as you were told. This 'natural path' which is ours is among the best suitable for today's man: not much demanding in practice, efficient in terms of results. Does it not go in the direction of what our brothers are looking for, here below? It is up to you to judge."
