Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, January 1, 2001 - 10:00 AM

To you my dear son,

"We wish more frequent contacts with you. Our wishes were partly fulfilled during last year; we have got into a habit that goes the right way. We have fostered these approaches between both your hearts, which are faithful in their love and completely devoted to us.

"Now that you feel at ease with one another, we would like these communications to intensify. The transmission is well provided, and there are good elements as intermediary. Everything apparently differentiates you and yet, all brings you closer, since your hearts keep on singing our praises.

"It is a vocation, for each of you. We wish that, beyond distances, barriers were broken down and that an easy communication is established, to strengthen what already exists. Ideas must be able to materialize naturally in a written language that codifies our most secret wishes. We trained our scribe for these communications by transmitting to her many messages that are also teachings emanating from another world. May the future unite you according to our wishes!

"May our love manifest to you, especially in this day, my highly blessed son."
