Wednesday, January 3, 2001 - 8:00 AM

Both my son and you have a special place in my heart. You are not there for the same reasons, but does the heart know about reason? You won it in different ways, and you achieve the same result. Bonds that are created from life to life remain strong, if they continue in the spirit that existed previously. May they lead us to establish a particular contact and a kind of constructive collaboration.

"A big blank page is ahead of us; what is going to be written thereon? The link-up between our three hearts must be established smoothly and with greatest subtlety. The quality of these exchanges will depend on this result. They are and will be in a way unique in their kind. This very special relationship must develop with meticulous care and resulting contacts must be as well tuned as the strings of a musical instrument. The receiving element must find her place between two giants, without losing her own tonality, and all the sweetness of her song. By placing this relationship in a harmonic framework, resulting notes will necessarily be harmonious. Let us wait and hear the tuning of this symphony, without rushing things. Let us be lyrical in this beginning of the year as high hopes can be contemplated."

Babuji