Thursday, January 4, 2001 - 8:00 AM

Nothing can be acquired forever. The human being sometimes engages on hazardous ways and can be completely misled. What can really lead him to make such choices? His ego, and his lack of humility and surrender. He says he loves us, but only seeks to harm those whom we love. Why do good servants of the Mission give up following us without valid reasons, why do they harm so much? The mazes of the human soul are unsearchable.

"We are sorry about the situation of my son, related to all these acts of treachery. It is unbearable to see him struggling amidst all these difficulties generated by brothers and sisters who should help and support him in his heavy task. Yet we cannot regulate everything and make the reign of love and peace between men appear before the appointed hour.

"These behaviours and bad aspects of the human personality must reach their heights to release them from their unfortunate inclinations: that is the rule prevailing in this world. The human beings follow through their baseness, before their good side could appear. This eternal play of good and evil on Earth is distressing. As we often said: we work so that man is released from the bad aspects of his nature, which must ultimately be removed."

Babuji