

Thursday, April 12, 2001 - 10:00 AM

My dear daughter,

"You should turn toward more smiling horizons. As you know, everything evolves, and everything changes. French people will end up having a clear understanding and recovering their discernment. They are able to think by themselves, but an important number of individuals can easily be influenced and that cannot be changed.

"Think of what was said throughout these messages on the future of the Mission, and rejoice for this comforting future. See how ideas evolved over centuries: martyrs became torturers, domineering people became dominated. It has always been like that.

"As we have just said, it will be necessary to go on until the end of this cycle so that the nature of things is restored and a better world is offered to Earthmen.

"Like all of you, my daughter, you are passing through here below. You can leave your mark on your time by lofty actions and thoughts; nothing and nobody can prevent you from so doing. What happens in your heart is exemplary and serves humanity. The sand grain in the desert plays its role; it is a particle of the Divine and for this reason, it is of great importance.

"Everything, from the infinitely small to the infinitely great, is as one and contributes to the universal equilibrium."

Babuji