My dear daughter,

"We must carry on with this activity for some more time. All these messages will not be read in a row, hence the necessity to often come back to issues already addressed, by approaching them differently. Some abhyasis will read them on a regular basis and will be imbued with them; others will not feel this need and will read them sporadically. It does not matter; they will have them at their disposal when they feel like it. Sometimes hard felt events make the spiritual process be considered in a different light, more thoroughly and with greater motivation.

"Everything necessary for one's enlightenment can be found in our way when this appeal is strongly felt. Nothing can be forced in this area; only the soul can express this intense need to accelerate its quest towards the Absolute. All the conditions must be met in view of this result. If our way is agreeable to him, he will find the thread that will lead him to the highest level of realization.

"In this century, many souls are awakening from a long sleep and their aspiration to be connected to the Divine is big. Many possibilities are being offered to them, Sahaj Marg being one of them. This way is simple; this spareness satisfies our faithful aspirants and the effectiveness of the system is obvious to them. May they all be blessed!"
