Whispers from The Brighter World

My dear son,

"You are going to move towards a new stage of your life, the most decisive one. Your action is at its height, and is integral to this spiritual movement, which is a precursor to future big upheavals (changes) and the vibratory change of this planet. Set your priorities. Make them tally with the present needs of the Mission, that must as well speed up. Surround yourself judiciously; choose good staff and delegate, in order to supervise without using up too much of your energy in doing so.

"There comes a time when choices must be made. You only aspire to isolate and internalize yourself, but the time has not come yet. Time is doing its work. Look at the long way you have already come since your accession to this responsibility, which you excel in assuming. The putting in place of strong elements must be effected in years to come. The Mission will have to play its role more and more in the world, and provide a simple but efficient spiritual practice. Souls are, and will be, more and more in need of it. You are the super manager of this grand investment that will attain its supreme achievement in future times. We surround you with our love."
