Sunday, December 2, 2001 - 9:45 AM

We appreciate, my daughter, let your heart sing, open it up to your Master's love. What is better than this soul bond where confidence provides for all wonders! A spiritual Master must feel this complete surrender, to mould a heart in the best possible manner. Very strong bonds are created between the Master and the disciple, when the relation becomes demanding and unique. These bonds are indefectible; the soul remains stamped with a divine hallmark, which accompanies it wherever life, in its many facets, can lead it. The soul is happy to have chosen its side; it opens up with the splendour which awaits it.

"The way is free, nothing can block it; this choice is determining. When a heart sings the praises of its Master, thousands of voices unite with it, forming a celestial chorus, which delights the angels. The goal is not reached, but everything contributes to it, under the best auspices. We are happy and we applaud this divine concert."

Babuji