

Monday, December 3, 2001 - 10:00 AM

My dear son,

"We understand very well, but you should know that your abilities have not diminished. Quite the contrary! You must go on until the end of this life while enriching yourself with the numerous experiences that present themselves to you. Everyday, you go a bit more in depth into the diversity of the human race. It is disconcerting in many respects [this diversity], but our role, at all costs, is to work towards the upliftment of humanity permanently. We embarked on this service by offering to participate in the construction of a new humanity, regenerated and spiritually open. We cannot fail in this vow, however hard it may be sometimes for us to do. The reward is great; believe me!

"When you come to rejoin us, you will be able to measure the impact of your action in this world. You will be astounded by the results obtained. As incarnate beings, we do not have a global vision of our action. We all surround you with our love and bless you through the same heart."

Babuji