These messages represent a rather special working tool at your disposal. It is high time for this form of communication to be taken seriously; the difficulty arises from the fact that few mediums are really reliable.

"There is no quotation on this aspect and no reference on the Internet, as yet, which is preferable! As in many other fields, you should beware of trickery. Throughout the centuries, mediums have left serious information on the reality of the beyond.

"Certain religions have put the snuffer on this practice, declaring it nothing less than diabolic. Anything that disturbs them cannot be considered otherwise.

"Nothing has changed in this regard, but enlightened people carry on regardless.

"Reading these messages with your heart, you will feel all their truth. It is normal. God so wants it: these means of communication should help humanity. It will be needed in future times when man will be cut off from all that characterises this current civilisation that is completely mechanised and inhuman.

"Being by himself with only his poor resources, man will be able to do nothing but beseech Divinity and its assistance, in all possible forms."
