Friday, July 5, 2002 - 8:00 AM

You may wish to tell your Master, how happy I am to see your move towards one another. As he goes through these messages, he will appreciate how special is our relation.

"It supports all this work, which highlights certain points that always need to be reminded. Repetitions can seem tedious, but they are necessary. The human mind is made like that; it needs them in the process of its own building.

"The imposing celebration, which is being prepared, shows him how big his place is in the heart of the abhyasis, and how large his influence is. We can only praise the Almighty who, in his great benevolence, supports the development of our Mission as planned. My son puts himself into this action completely; the impact of his work is resounding. We can only express all our joy to him. May he feel it in his heart and feel how much we appreciate him. We will be very much present for him in these particular moments when in addition to our love, all our support lies with him."

Babuji