Rely on the heart of your Master, my child, he can understand everything, his views go well beyond the framework of his life on Earth.

"He already took off a long time ago, going far beyond his human condition in which his mission confines him. He also keeps on growing. One day, he will be with us, working as he is already doing, but liberated from the constraints of this world, and expending all his power.

"We follow his steps and enlighten him in his heavy task, giving him capacities, which he does not even suspect. He is building his life in a Masterly fashion; that is the appropriate expression since he is actually a Master, at a high level in our hierarchy.

"He does not work in vain. His fights and actions are supreme, and he meets all our wishes. To see him constantly gaining stature fills us with joy, thus satisfying us in terms of our aspirations for him. He acts with all his might with a heart full of love. We see him like a giant endowed with all qualities.

"The day he comes to rejoin us will be a day of glory that can really be expressed only if he is in his element, i.e., with us. May our attention and our love carry him divinely, to help him in the great mission where we placed him.

"Our united hearts dedicate these few lines full with our love to him."
