Monday, March 17, 2003 - 10:00 AM

Among all torments associated with one's life, only love must emerge and strengthen the being. It is its true food and must take precedence over all the weaknesses and contradictions that can take place. This kind of love gives a force, which nothing can compare with. When it besieges a heart it halos it with beautiful features, which distinguishes it from its kind. While progressing, a soul must reach a stage where divine love occupies the entire place, and from then on begins its most beautiful ascent.

"In our way, a candidate is prepared for acquiring this state through work, which liberates him little by little from his unnecessary burden, to reach another stage of his evolution. Our system is redeeming. It does not promise the moon in vain. It acts according to the assiduity in doing what is recommended; confidence in the Master prevails, since it fosters work. Sahaj Marg is a means given to the man of this century to enable him to speed up the process of his own evolution.

"Time is short; humanity as a whole is destabilized by a worrying way of life in terms of equilibrium, and by inculcated misconceptions that will be its ruin. Happy are those whose equilibrium is found in uniting with God in their heart, outside any ideology. They remain free in their way of thinking and acting. May God pity this suffering humanity which searches for Him hopelessly, without being aware of it."

Babuji