Saturday, April 12, 2003 - 9:30 AM

Don't lose heart, my daughter, come and recharge your batteries through this contact by plunging into a beneficial wave for your heart. Exile weighs heavily on my son, and he is not the only one who would like to leave this world. But he must be satisfied with what he is provided with, and must regard his Earthly experience as a grace. Yours is at the same time painful and rich: it gives you a very much varied palette which allows you to compensate for what you are lacking, by way of wonderful and not very common experiences. Who can really lead a successful life in all respects and yet be happy with the results obtained? Negative and positive results are to be regarded as fulfilling tests.

"The development of spiritual life leads to comprehending all these phenomena and accepting unpleasant situations. Acquired wisdom provides a more lucid way of looking at events occurring throughout the days, as well as objectivity in the assessment of their importance. Spiritual practice remains the incomparable remedy for progressing in acceptance. It cannot give all keys, nor can it solve all problems of the material life, but can only open persons to the true realities of the being that are beyond this transitory experience on Earth. Involvement in mystical life opens broad horizons, and makes it possible to put material worries into perspective by always going further in this search for the Absolute."

Babuji