Sunday, May 4, 2003 - 10:00 AM

Yes, my child, the new era will be well characterized by love, by Divine love, sublimated, transforming the world by its unparalleled vibration. Sahaj Marg, the natural way, is the bridge between two worlds. At the dawn of the third millennium, the new era that is in the making will be characterized by the emergence of true values that will develop in accordance with its typical vibratory level.

"Making reference to a known teaching--which is one of many, but this one is more familiar to you--let us take the example of the Old and New Testaments each of which marked in their own way the evolution of the understanding of human beings. The first one recommends the lex talionis, with its formula: eye for eye. The second one reveals by proposing to them the concepts of love and tolerance. Development of love in the hearts will be the advent of the new age. In their chronology, sacred texts showed an evolution on this point, which continues with our teaching and beyond, with particular emphasis on this aspect in the sadhana.

"The challenge is: love investing the hearts. It is very important and does not seem attainable in the present state of affairs, but so it is. Nothing is impossible to God.

"Past teachings showed an evolution, which will continue through those given in our way. Thus, a long tradition is perpetuated in keeping with the spirit of time.

"Masters succeeding one another within our Mission will also have to answer a call growing in the hearts of followers who will completely rely on them."

Babuji