The time is ripe for the Mission to accelerate its progression and be situated at another level. Forces that run it are powerful and the powers of its incarnate Master are multiplying tenfold, in order to act in accordance with divine plans. Our way must be situated in compliance with these laws and must continue on its own path as planned.

"A gigantic work must be done on this Earth; the time has come to act accordingly and to prepare people. A lot of work will need to be done to lead humanity to a different status; the system is in place, patience and perseverance will be essential, so that these great intentions can be achieved. Sahaj Marg has its role to play in this situation and it will hold it well: everything is being put in place to that end.

"Daily life is getting difficult for many human beings who are wandering aimlessly in the jungle of big cities disproportionately large and going against the well-being of their inhabitants. In the final analysis, this modern life only brings them inconveniences. They are completely lost, as they feel threatened in so many ways. How could things be different? The wisest people turn to God; they try to approach Him in various ways. They seek to be appeased and comforted, insofar as they are so greatly frustrated by the destabilizing materialism in which they are out of their depths."
