The spiritual Masters succeeding one another on Earth, form a big chain of love aimed at helping men. That is the noble goal for their incarnation and they suffer from their isolation in this world, to which they do not belong. Their divine mission is the only reason for their incarnation. They belong to a hierarchy of highly spiritualized beings having experienced God, and acting from wherever they are in His name. Humanity needs to be helped in its long journey towards a higher level of consciousness. All forces are united in view of this goal, which should urgently be attained. Confusion prevails in this world, which is deviating from its trajectory, which had to lead it from a very low starting point to another dimension.

"The hearts of these Masters become incarnate to be points of light and of hope, though they are generally not recognized for what they are. It is time that records the biggest among them in men's memory. Men are not easily touched by the word of God brought by his envoys. Their awakening takes place with time, and ends up reaching its target. At the beginning, life on Earth was, so to speak, a kind of accident resulting from genetic engineering, and being regarded as an experiment, whose success is yet to be seen. An important work remains to be made, so that the vibratory level of this world could rise. It will succeed: every effort is being made in this respect."
