Sunday, July 13, 2003 - 10:00 AM

My son has reached a very high level of fulfilment. His heart is a pure jewel, which is divinizing itself according to our wishes. This supreme rise coincides with his arrival in Europe, allowing him to perform sustained action, which will be carried on in other visited countries and will have an extended scope in relation to the importance of the work that is in store for him.

"We carry him in the escalation of this work aimed to meet the needs of the present time. We expect a lot from him, for he is our standard bearer who brings to the visited countries the very essence of the beauty of Sahaj Marg. He is like the refreshing waters filtering into hearts sensitive to its beneficial effects.

"My dear son, this is what we wanted to say about you today. You are the one chosen by God and by my heart; there is no need to mention it! Spare yourself. Keep your own best to act in the name of our system, approved and supported by the higher authorities. For our aspirants, you are the living icon of our way, providing them with divine breath, which they are profoundly yearning for. This long tour, undertaken with a view to serving, is marked by a crucial turning point concerning the whole humanity. We are happy to be part of it, in the person of the one we put our trust in. Our blessings go with you, my dear son."

Babuji