My son is, more than ever, at the heart of an action going well beyond his control. Our Mission has reached a new status. It belongs to a vast movement whose beginnings will soon be felt even in our way. The new era quoted constantly without knowing well what it is all about, is nevertheless in the making and it will transform the very essence of 'life' on Earth. In the long run, these changes will modify humanity profoundly. Most people will benefit from a particular work aimed at changing their mentality and fostering their spiritual blooming. This unprecedented change in history will trigger a radical transformation of man's chemical components.

"For the time being, we will not go into scientific details and terms, which would not be understood in the current state of the evolution on this planet. Human beings are so much full of their alleged knowledge. All their conceptions of biology will need to be reviewed. They will have to seriously take a new look at themselves. A broader spiritual opening will help them put things in perspective and accept what they so far believe to be impossible. Man's perceptions and knowledge are purposely limited. He would not use, as advised, the knowledge that would have been given to him. Only his lust for power would benefit from it, to the detriment of men's wellbeing.

"The new era should be above all the era of love between all without any discrimination whatsoever, and should remain centred on divine power, and serve it in priority. Today's man may find these concepts quite abstract as he is so immersed in a devastating materialism."
