Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, July 24, 2003 - 4:00 PM

My beloved son,

"Though our wishes are the last ones in a long stream, they nevertheless have in store for your heart the best of our mindful hearts; without any doubt, your heart has sensed our presence by your side.

"We were waiting for human warmth to be expressed: that of our brothers surrounding their revered Master. Whether present or not, they are united with sincerity and devotion for this celebration marking a little more our Mission year by year. Our very special blessings accompany you in this tour, whose impact already mentioned in these writings will belong to the history of our way.

"You actually deserve all the love expressed to you today. Let us reaffirm our wishes as well as our love for you; that is to you, my dear son.

"Your Master, Babuji Maharaj, considerate of your person, in many regards,"

Babuji