Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fourth Revelation

Lift up your thoughts; do not dwell on human behaviours, take a look at yourself before issuing criticisms. Are you perfect? Other people would know about that.

"Each one must face up to not only what life has in store for him, but to his disposition, to his genetic capital that plays tricks on him, and to his character that must be adjusted to those of the beings surrounding him. That is no easy task, but it is an excellent means for you to test your adaptability and your patience.

"If all men on this Earth resembled each other in every respect, your life would be disconcertingly monotonous. The entire creation is greatly diverse. If you take the trouble to study it from every angle, you will remain puzzled over it: how is it possible, you would say?

"Turn your attention to all that lives and moves around you, observe nature; it is full of lessons. You will be given a lesson of humility and courage seeing that each element, which constitutes creation, fights hard to survive in the face of the harshness of its environment."
