A Fourth Revelation

It is good to be in a state of humility, but it is advisable to recognise the graces received and to admit them in the face of the world. We are not blaming you, but we notice a fact and we underline it.

"Your group should remain well united. Your differences are interesting; you complement each other very well. There is no accident in this business and we appreciate the newcomer. We will call upon her services in the future.

"Let her become well imbued with these messages, which will help her not only in her spiritual life, but in the blooming of her personality. Take good care of this young person, we recommend her to you. You have a motherly heart that can only unfold its unsuspected treasures.

"Love them all, those who come towards you, for one month, one year, or for eternity. Give without counting, my child, even if what you give is not felt. What passes through you comes from us and can only help them all."
