Why should we reproach you? Aren't you doing your level best every day to serve us!

Human beings often make their own lives difficult with inappropriate thoughts, doubts, remorse and a whole trail darkening their horizon. Surrendering should keep you away from all these questionings on what you are requested to write, these remarks relating to your work. Leave it to your Master in every respect; we trust him and his acts are essentially inspired. He works for us on Earth, and his action goes well beyond it. His unquenchable thirst for work is not restricted to his role: it is peculiar to great beings assuming many responsibilities over space and time. His discoveries are just starting. The universe is vast and his action has constantly become more and more extensive; it is in the nature of things. He is building as of now his future life, here and elsewhere, although he cannot know all the relevant details.

"Isn't the main thing to be and to act according to the divine laws, by strictly abiding with them! Each one, in his own way, with the means at his disposal, is preparing his beyond. There is no time to lose, and when the way is shown with precision, it is advisable to go into it with fervour, in a spirit of total confidence and surrender, without which a way cannot be profitable.

"Regain your confidence, my daughter. We are not pursuing these contacts in vain, we have said it often enough. We understand that your health does not facilitate an exacting obligation like this one. Only love is guiding your steps and manages to calm you down, when in your solitude, you are overwhelmed by sadness because you are far from us.

"We bless you, my daughter."
