Monday, December 15, 2003 - 10:00 AM

My dear daughter,

"Our union of hearts goes well beyond these messages: you have a special place in mine. Please don't start doubting about your ability to receive our comments well. So many of our aspirants think they can hear us, and they interpret what is actually a mere projection of their minds, without any real base. All things considered, your attitude is preferable and your prudence salutary.

"My son awaits directives from us, which we will give him in a few moments. All is taking place as well as possible in the Mission. His influence contributes to it very largely. He has some well-hardened souls around him; his choices generally prove justified. Human nature can sometimes turn out to be misleading. We all experienced such reversals; it is inevitable, but that does not prevent in any way the destiny of the Mission from being accomplished under his enlightened directives. To aim accurately and well, as far as the main things are concerned, is of primary importance. Our way is making its way through the spiritual world where various currents coexist. We don't overshadow anybody, quite to the contrary. His work has contributed to spread light on the Earth. Its action will keep growing; it is in the nature of things.

"We bless this so much loved son and we guide him according to our views. May he advance in serenity; all is well."

Babuji