My dear daughter,

"You are beginning to see a favourable outcome to this long process in which, every day, you give your best. You always acted out of love, without self-interest, preferring not to imagine the future of these many messages. One day, they also will soar, since that is the purpose for which they have been given.

"These writings represent a considerable amount of work, the way of receiving them not being within the abilities of all, and requiring a great expenditure of energy. Disregarding these aspects, you consider only the benefits they will be able to generate when they are known —since such is our wish, my son being included in this pronouncement.

"His clear-headedness as a spiritual Master lets him forecast their impact on our brothers: those who will want to receive them in the adequate attitude. Everything in its own time; all our aspirants, as a whole, are making progress towards more broadmindedness. We are preparing them for future times, taking into account their evolution. Their Master is accomplishing a tremendous amount of work, channelling cosmic forces in favour of each one of them, as much as they can receive. It is good for our abhyasis to let themselves be guided in this work. A strongly independent mind would only do a disservice to them.

"The heart must be offered to the Master beyond the intellectual barrier and must give him a freehand. Thus are true bonds built, which are indestructible. Our most fervent brothers understood that: trying to control a destructive ego, they manage to analyze themselves with clarity, trying to perfect an attitude conducive to their evolution. Nothing is easy in this area, nor is it in any other one; faith and total trust in the way and the Master remaining the essential aspects in this matter."
