Monday, May 17, 2004 - 10:00 AM

Let your heart follow its natural tendency: to love. Is there any more beautiful vocation!

My child, there is the true meaning of life, of its blooming, when it is centred on the main thing. This inner power makes it possible to face the storms; they are very many in this surging crossing which [life] is sometimes. Each difficult step, once past, allows one to assert oneself in one's faith. True wisdom consists of that: to love and thank, to have this opportunity to experience enlightening situations, when they are accepted as being necessary.

"The mystery of an incarnation entails stages misunderstood by man; it is when he has surrendered with confidence that he can find peace. It is not always easy to accept what appears to be an injustice. Confined to what his current life is, he cannot understand easily why it is not as he would like it to be. It takes time for a sincere searcher, involved in a spiritual way, to accept the necessity to live his karma as it is.

"Our aspirants sometimes suffered and struggled a lot before reaching us and focusing on the Master capable of helping them. The most difficult ways witness great souls engaging in them to share with their brothers and help them. That is the true greatness, compassion and love of the neighbour, when it is disinterested.

"When a flame is set alight in a loving heart, it lights all around it, and does not keep for itself alone the effects of divine grace, which it attracts. To have a living Master is a rare blessing. Happy is he who finds him and who can recognize him for what he is: One chosen by God. Henceforth, his destiny will bear the hallmark of this unique grace. He will be able to advance with confidence towards the goal."

Babuji