The new era, so much awaited by many people, will not happen without all kinds of upheavals. It would be good for each one to question oneself, especially in the spiritual area we are interested in.

"The transformation will relate to this specific aspect. Is man currently willing to take the plunge? All of them are not ready yet, far from it. God is Great. His Will will be done according to the divine laws, equitably. These prospects are to be considered with regard to the preparation of people's minds.

"All will not follow; we must nevertheless mention these issues. Some publications do it and give many details appealing to the readers' imagination. The transformation of humanity is an imposing project of divine inspiration having nothing to do with science fiction that is dear to the lovers of it.

"A spiritual way like ours cannot be unaware of this evolutionary process indefinitely, as it is already at work. Although they are not very perceptible to the most refined people, the manifestations can be felt in the hearts prepared for the spiritual work. The vibrations of this world will refine and produce, on their own, a differentiation in the adaptation of issues; hence the importance of tackling these questions capable of sensitizing our brothers to this phenomenon.

"Spiritual work is the best warrant in this matter; our Mission is applying itself to that. Born at the dawn of these great changes, to a certain extent it must adapt its line to the evolution of times, i.e., that of a world necessarily having to advance on pain of losing itself."
