Leave the world surrounding you as it is, and come and take refuge in the heart of silence, in the inalterable peace. There all is light, ethereal and our voices can reach you easily. Your heart is ready to receive them; it awaits them each time with the same devotion. The ritual is renewed endlessly causing the same joy.

"This heart-to-heart will not end; it will carry over in the future and beyond this world. Bonds of this kind cannot be broken; they are recorded in the great book of life, that which resists all the ages of this planet and beyond. This story will be known, and it will be related in our way, during future centuries, producing the era of knowledge in all its forms. Esoteric facts will not raise doubt any more, when they come from a reliable source.

"Our brothers of the future will look towards the past with compassion, seeing the ordeals that had to be overcome to reach the stage at which they will then be. They will understand the errors of the past. Having points of comparison, they will be capable of appreciating and justifying the lack of knowledge of the laws having maintained humanity in such ignorance.

"Within our Mission, it is advisable to advance prudently, and yet many of our brothers will appreciate this openness to a reality reserved for too long a time for esoteric and mystical movements preserving the secrecy of their teachings. Our goal consists in helping souls in their process to focus on the essentials, without thus neglecting what must be brought to light. The time has come; that is how it is."
