Advance on this way of surrender. A complete availability is important, work particularly on this state. You accepted to listen to us as much as necessary, and we use your gifts. Your role is enviable, but you understood for a long time, that service was the catchword.

"Every abhyasi, within the Mission, can find his place in this domain. Activities are not lacking, wherein their abilities can be used. The smallest action is useful and beneficial to the person concerned. The Mission needs acts of goodwill, and they are all appreciated. There are neither little nor big roles, there is service, the availability of the heart being the essential element in this matter.

"Never feel marginalized in this vast organization; the need for action can always be translated into action. If such is not the case, there is no cause for your feeling excluded. To actively participate in all spiritual events is a considerable commitment for you, as well as for the whole group."
