In future times, this world will be cleaned and consequently more in phase with the higher plans. Opacity currently prevailing in this world puts up vibratory barriers, which make the exchanges and the manifestation of the spirit possible at a higher level. Actual advances on this Earth will relate to the discovery of the very essence of matter; in the present state of affairs, knowledge cannot progress.

"As limited by the conventional approach of phenomena governing this world, man cannot really find his position in the reality of creation. He ignores essential concepts; the basic principles developed by men and inculcated in him are far from approaching the truth. A new race of people, characterized by broader perceptions of the truth, will be open to much more advanced areas of knowledge. They are already legion on Earth, these exceptionally gifted precursors of the race that will contribute to destroy this intellectual rigorousness slowing down the evolution of beings in this world. All concepts will have to be re-examined: this new race, open to the very many capabilities of the spirit, will not hide any more behind a primary teaching purportedly infallible and reserved for an elite. All current structures of the various fields of so-called higher education will collapse to give way to a reality that will make the evolution of humanity easier. These new beings will have the right references about the higher worlds guiding them in their progress, and they will be free from any jumble of elements darkening the life of their elders.

"May the era of enlightenment be established as soon as possible on Earth."
