

Sunday, November 9, 2003 - 10:00 AM

Take advantage of the surrounding quietness; it supports your inner listening. You are completely receptive to our voices. One has to work on his availability. Even without having particular gifts, it puts the conscious being in phase with other manifestations of its subtle bodies.

"Humanity has reached a new era. What will distinguish it from the current times is awareness about the possibilities of the being, beyond this incarnation. Having become receptive, man will be able to tune in to the voices capable of guiding him, and especially informing him on his true nature. He will need, more than ever, a spiritual Master, to progress in this connection with other levels of life.

"We are confident about the future of our brothers; they are well engaged in this process, even if some do not, as yet, admit the fact that it is possible to communicate with higher entities, which is the case with these messages. Their views will need to be adjusted to this reality and it will be necessary to shake them up so that they are in tune, if they do not want to remain behind. Their current work is shaping them towards this broadmindedness; it will be the characteristic of the new times. They will have to get rid of old beliefs, distorting their approach to realities they will no longer be able to deny. Let us continue to work in all directions, so that the truth is brought to light on this Earth and that it is no longer beset by erroneous principles, keeping it at its current level of evolution. All can change; the human creature must progress in its perceptions of a reality which there will be no longer any doubt about. Enough evidence will be given to it.

"We are working towards that evolution; it will be the mark of this century, which, as we hope, will be the Age of Enlightenment. May our brothers become enlightened beings, capable of helping their fellow creatures!"

Babuji