Sunday, February 6, 2000 - 10:00 AM

You are a medium, my son is not, and he is alone to manage this Mission that spreads over the world. You could help him in certain circumstances while serving us as an intermediary.

"It is necessary that he accept the principle that this should be secret; the only people involved, i.e., the channel and the translator, remaining in the most absolute discretion. It would be a very important commitment, considering the fact that his entourage would not understand it.

"We try to prepare you both to this kind of particular communication. You have strong personalities and they must agree and must harmonize so that barriers that still separate you at present can fall down.

"The fact that you don't speak the same language is a heavy handicap, but all these obvious difficulties should be surmounted. Time makes its work and what must be, will be."

Babuji