Cultivate within yourself this rare flower, my child, we will keep telling you that: isn't love the most beautiful present which a heart can receive! This love, we return it to you, and you know it. May it help you to carry your burden. Your path is like that, it is not ordinary, one day you will understand the true meaning of it.

"Suffering also is to be considered as grace; a strong soul cannot be mistaken about that. Spiritual life opens up possibilities helping one to endure the difficulties of an incarnation. Remain confident in your destiny; compensations are granted to you, they help you advance at any cost.

"We all went through trying moments where only faith was lighting our way. Even the Greatest beings who have influenced history, were not spared. To be able to take refuge in oneself, in this universe of beauty, is recourse for hearts in distress. Here, there is no disappointment; only the recovered serenity allows one to reconcile life, and to accept its torments.

"May our way help more and more thirsty souls. Many come forward and seek a way out, a means suited to them to go towards what becomes a necessity for them. Future times will accentuate this thirst. This ascending movement will not stop so soon, it complies with the divine plans, for the good of current humanity grappling with despair. Let us come back to love; it is desperately lacking in this world, hence the need for blessed souls to wisely use it.

"May all be helped and enlightened in this direction."
