Wednesday, September 29, 2004 - 10:00 AM

Darkness and light are Earthly concepts. They help humans to find their bearings, but they do not exist in the world of the spirit. Man likes to refer to them; he attaches to them a profound meaning in this incarnation, not going beyond these limits. All that characterizes this planet, the life which is expressed there, solely belongs to it. Only what is built by the inner being remains an intrinsic value, not subjected to the laws and references of men.

"The representation of the material world is vibratory. Prone to fluctuations, it will vanish with time, when its cycle has been accomplished. All is transient here below; this reality is not easily admitted and yet, this planet is to some extent experimental, being subjected to many tests, on various aspects. These remarks may shock, but this is how it is. Saying it differently would not change the fact.

"Current humanity believes it is superior; it is a breeding ground quite surprising in many respects. Humility is to be developed in priority; a time will come when all will be said and finally understood, bringing back true values to their place. The crisis point is reached: this civilization is going too far in many respects. May our brothers admit it and conform to a more rigorous way of life while progressing in their personal and spiritual development.

"All excesses come to an end; it is in the nature of things."

Babuji